Thoughts on Election Day

I'm writing this article on Tuesday, November 3 – election day. No one knows how it will turn out. Here are a few thoughts that have flooded my thoughts and prayers today.

1. "Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD." (Psalm 33:12) – This specifically referred to the ancient nation of Israel, the only nation on earth whose God was Jehovah. But it is true of any nation that so chooses to make Jehovah their God. May we be a nation who seeks God.
2. "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Isaiah 55:9) – Regardless of who wins elections, God is still on His throne. He is sovereign, majestic, eternal, and powerful! We should not wring our hands or be stressed about the future. God has this under control, and He always will.
3. Pray…"for kings and all those in authority, that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness and holiness." (1 Timothy 2:2) – It is vital that we pray for whomever is in office, whether we agree or disagree. And it is okay for us to pray for the blessing to live and worship in peace and quiet. May God help us never use our religious freedom as an excuse to be closet Christians. Instead, may we share the love of Jesus in the Name of Jesus – inviting others into this incredible relationship we have with our Creator through Christ.

I am choosing, "as far as it depends on [me], to live at peace with everyone." (Romans 12:18) The LORD is my God, His ways are higher than all others', so I will pray for peace and strive to live in godliness and holiness in the Name of Christ, our Lord!

Grace and Peace,

David
